

CORLISS PALMER STILL WITH BREWSTER, WIFE DECLARES

RIDICULES REPORTED PARTING FOR YEAR OF 'SOULMATES'

SEEKS BIG DAMAGES FROM WEALTHY SCION

Copyright by International News Reel
MRS. SARAH G. BYFIELD

New York, March 5 (U.S.S.)—"Corliss Palmer is still there with him. She was seen riding with him yesterday."

This assertion was made today by Mrs. E. V. Brewster, wife of the millionaire magazine publisher, who announced Saturday he had sent away Miss Palmer, "his soulmate," who had been living at his palatial home near Morrisstown, N. J. Miss Palmer, a beauty contest winner, was a former cigar stand girl in Macon, Ga.

Brewster said he and Miss Palmer had parted after three years' residence together, chaperoned by Miss Palmer's mother, "because his wife would not permit him to get a divorce."

Mrs. Brewster, at her home as Rosely, L. I., also denied this claim of her husband who left her home when she refused longer to admit Miss Palmer as a member of her household.

"I don't believe he wants a divorce or that he intends to marry Miss Palmer if he gets one," she said.

"He isn't telling the truth when he says I will not give him a divorce," Mrs. Brewster, the publisher's second wife, said he had told her when they parted that he believed "two or three years was long enough to live with any woman."

FEARS TRICK.

"He believes that," Mrs. Brewster declared. "He believes in marriage, of course—for a limited time. A real marriage though, minus the responsibility of either partner is responsible to the other."

Mrs. Brewster said friends, "responsible persons," had told her of seeing Brewster and Miss Palmer yesterday near their $250,000 estate in New Jersey.

"It's all some kind of a trick," she said. "I don't know what it means, but I am quite sure the girl is still there."

Mrs. Julia Palmer, the mother, is still at Brewster's home, but she could not be reached. Brewster also declined to comment on his wife's statements that he did not want a divorce and that Miss Palmer was still with him.

"Nothing further need be said," he said.

CHOR COUNTER BEAUTY.

The rise and decline of Miss Palmer's material as well as her heart circumstances is graphically illustrated in a study of her life of residence within the last four or five years.

As a vivacious, stunning and slender girl of fair hair and sparkling eyes, she served as a cigar counter clerk in a Southern hotel. Then, in one graceful bound, she became a star's beauty contest, conducted in one of his several movie magazines. Soon she was reading with Brewster and Mrs. Brewster and that was the end of her life as a beauty contest winner. Corliss had said she would live with Brewster in a hotel or a decent island if Brewster possibly so desired.

CANDLER TRIAL OFF UNTIL TOMORROW

Wealthy Scion Is Accused by Woman of Attack on European Trip

Trenton, N. J., March 5.—The trial of the suit for $100,000 damages filed against Walter T. Candler, son of Mrs. G. Candler, Jr., Atlantic City, capital, by Mrs. Sarah Byfield, was again postponed today because of the illness of defense counsel.

It was agreed to begin the hearing tomorrow.

Mrs. Byfield charges Candler with having attacked her in her dining room while she and her husband, Mr. H. Byfield, Candler, and his two young daughters were on the promenade en route to Europe on July 17, 1922. Mr. Candler denies the charges.

He stated he was intoxicated and did not remember how he came to be in Mrs. Byfield's room. He admitted that Byfield rushed into the room, demanded $25,000 and that he wrote a check for $25,000 in favor of Byfield while dazed.

EX-MILKMAN HELD ON CHARGE OF BREAK

James J. O'Connell, twenty-four, Somerville, until a week ago a milkman was held in town today for entering March 12, when he entered a municipal court, charged with breaking and entering.

O'Connell was arrested after he was found standing outside the door of Santo Rocco's apartment at No. 40 Lowell street, West End. The glass panel of the door had been shattered.

REVERE MAN IS MISSING; FOUL PLAY FEARED

Vanishes After Leaving Home for His Brass Foundry in Boston

Trenton, N. J., March 5.—The trial of the appearance of George Lloyd of No. 164 Winthrop avenue, Revere, who vanished Monday while carrying several hundred dollars.

Lloyd, who is owner of a brass foundry at No. 113 Havell street, Boston, left his home in Revere at 7 o'clock Monday morning for work. Shortly after 8:30 he called his shop.

Informing the foreman that he would be in within two hours. He has not been heard from since. He is said to have visited the Everett Brass and Aluminum Company, in Everett, some time Monday morning.

According to Miss Dorothy Lloyd, who keeps house for her father, he was in good health and apparently free from worry when he left home. A search of the hospitals by the Revere police failed to find him.

Lloyd is 58 years old, of medium height, has blue eyes and wears glasses. He has brown hair, thick with gray, and is partly bald.

PENN RUM BANDITS HOLD UP DISTILLERY

Pittsburgh, March 5 (U.S.S.)—Prohibition agents from every point in western Pennsylvania were notified to keep on the trail of the gang made bandits who raided the Guckenheimer Distillery there today, cut all telephone wires, held several quarts of rum and several cases of bonded whiskey, valued at thousands of dollars.

'Hiram Johnston' Dead but He Sought Presidency

Bay City, Mich., March 5.—"Hiram Johnston" is dead. He was buried last July.

Thus further confusion is added to the Michigan Presidential primary election of April 7 next in which the name of "Hiram Johnston" was to have appeared in the Republican column to follow with the names of Senator Hiram W. Johnston of California and President Coolidge.

Johnston's name has been ordered stricken from the ballot by the Secretary of State upon receipt of a letter purporting to come from "Hiram Johnston" of Milwaukee township.

The correct name of the man who died last July is on the records as Martin Hiram Johnston. He was known as "Paddy" Johnston. He lived in a houseboat on the Saginaw River.

CALIPH SPEEDING TO HIS SWISS EXILE

Constantinople, March 5.—For the first time in nearly thirteen centuries the Mohammedan faith is with out a Caliph today. After Abdullatif Keffi, former Caliph, whose ecclesiastical office was abolished by the National Assembly at Ankara, is on a special train speeding to his exile in Switzerland. He is accompanied by his son, his two favorite wives and several attendants. The former Caliph wept as he left his palace.

The National Assembly's action threatens to estrange India and Egypt from Turkey on account of their large Mohammedan population.

BOSTON-BUILD SHIP BREAKS DOWN

Towed to Azores After Terrible Pounding by Sea, She Finally Cuts Here

The Shipping Board steamer Hibernian arrived today, ending a voyage from Baltic sea ports which began November 30. The vessel, battered by hurricanes and mountainous seas, had been disabled and towed into the Anson for repairs.

The pounding the heavily laden ship received shook her up so she on January 6 her steam steering gear broke down (her boilers leaked) so slowly the water put out the fire. She wallowed helplessly for thirty hours, when the steamer St. Anthony came to her aid in response to a wireless call.

The St. Anthony took her in tow and on January 15 they arrived in Ponta del Gadea. On February 17 the Hibernian was got under way again and resumed her voyage to Boston, thirty-six days out of Koda, her first port of call in the Baltic.

2 DEAD, 213 HURT, 298 JAILED AT MARDI GRAS

New Orleans, La., March 5.—Two were killed in a running gun battle, 238 persons were arrested and 213 injured last night during the Mardi Gras revels here, according to police and hospital records today.

Of those arrested, 115 were charged with intoxication. Of the injured fifteen were suffering from stab wounds, nine gunshot wounds and the remainder from miscellaneous accidents.

Student With Bottle Followed to Waiting Customer, Police Say

The alleged use of a Lynn high school girl as a bootlegger led to the arrest of her father, Louis Farmer, proprietor of a variety store at No. 341 Essex street, Lynn, on charges of illegal sale of intoxicating liquors and keeping such liquors for sale.

The girl, Mollie, sixteen years old, and a pupil in English High. Raiders who had been nagging of Farmer for months watched the place, saw the girl emerge with a bulging pocket, trailed her for several blocks, and when they say, she was about to make a delivery to a waiting customer, stepped up and took the bottle.

When Farmer saw Mollie entering the store again accompanied by several policemen he bailed for a month button on the wall, apparently intending to warn Mrs. Farmer, in the house next door, of impending danger. He never reached the button.

Patrolmen Kelly and Reeves of the Liquor Squad jumped the counter and pinned Farmer against the wall. While he was thus held a search of the shop by other policemen revealed a tin containing one-half gallon of alleged whiskey.

Led by Sergeant McLoughlin, members of the squad went from the store to the home at the Farmers' house, where the search was made and, to the apparent astonishment of Mrs. Farmer, walked straight to the upright safe, fastened a spring and opened a cabinet which had concealed a tin containing a half-gallon of liquor like the first.

The police decided to make no complaint against Mollie Farmer, who cried hysterically from the time she was intercepted until they withdrew.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN COSTA RICAN QUAKE

Panama Canal Zone, March 5 (U.S.S.)—Relief work was rushed to day for the thousands of Costa Ricans made homeless by earthquake. While the damage was heavy, especially at San Jose, the capital, and Heredia, the loss of life was light.

Five strong shocks were felt at San Jose at intervals of fifteen or twenty minutes.

According to one report there was no loss of life in the capital, but many were injured.

Fashion's Vote for Spring and Summer

Colored Linens are decreed

Even for those first spring dresses you are planning now.

Wild rose, cornflower, wistaria, bluebird, cardinal, myrtle—gay or dainty colors for women and little girls as well as sturdy browns and blues for little boys' suits. Over thirty of these wonderful colors—and the full cost of every garment you make from any one of them replaced by us if the color fades or the linen shrinks! Can anyone else in Boston make such a guarantee on thirty-three different colors? Anyway, one thing is sure—no one else in Boston can sell these linens. They are ours for Boston.

These linens are not merely "freshrun"; they are unshrinkable. It is largely due to this thorough shrinking process that they do not crust like ordinary linens. Another reason is the special long staple flax the flax is used. The result is a smooth, different surface especially easy to launder.

Do You Know This Linen Test?

Never buy a dress linen if, when you grasp each selvage and pull across the width, it is tight. It should be soft and elastic; if it is not, it is likely to crumple and shrink.

But safer than testing is to buy your dress goods here—our guarantee given above makes your purchases as safe as a certified check. Note especially the colored linen display this week. $1.15 a yard.

CROWD PRAYS AS 3 ARE RESCUED IN FIRE

Worshippers See the Firemen Save Trio Trapped in a Burning Building

New York, March 5.—A historic firehouse building at Forty-third street and Third Avenue, which, in the stage coach days of 200 years ago, was a roadside tavern on the Boston Post road, was destroyed today. A Wednesday worshippers poured from St. Agnes Catholic Church adjoining and, led by Father John White, prayed for the safety of three persons trapped in the burning structure.

Firemen rescued the trio, a woman and her son and John Monahan, whose condition was so serious that the priest administered the last rites of the church before he was taken to the hospital.

MORE U. S. MAIL FOR AMERICAN VESSELS

Washington, March 5.—Benefits are being realized from a quiet campaign of Postmaster-General Hunt to obtain for American vessels a fair share in the transportation of American-bound mail from Europe.

Withholding of mails from American vessels by the British postal administration for shipment in British vessels sailing several days later caused the Postmaster-General to start his campaign, and he has just concluded with the Egyptian government an arrangement which gives the American vessels the bulk of mail destined for the United States originating in Egypt, or passing through Alexandria, the gateway for nearly all southern Asiatic mail.

Pastor Exonerated

Buffalo, March 5.—The Rev. Frederick H. Johnson, former pastor of the Pilgrim Church of Mansfield, O., has been exonerated of a charge of violating the Mann Act in a report of the Federal grand jury. He was arrested in Jamestown, N. Y., with Miss Pearl L. Dauhenack, soloist in his church.

TRIO IN "OH BOY" CHORUS

By BETTY ALDEN

WHEN Miss Lucy Carnegie whispers the words "I do," a beautiful tropic garden will be the setting for the occasion.

Quite a Boston contingent is going South for the wedding of Miss Carnegie and Phineas Shaw Sprague taking place on the 15th of the month.

The bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie Ltd., have their winter home on Cumberland Island, which belongs to them. There is also only house on the lake, which is off the Georgia Coast, through the post office address is Fernandina, Fla.

It will be in the gardens of this estate that the wedding will be solemnized. Quite different from the Trinity or Emmanuel ceremonies to which Bostonians are accustomed.

Miss Nancy Carnegie will be her sister's honor attendant, there being eight girls in the bridegroom's group.

The engagement of Miss Carnegie and Mr. Sprague—he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas W. Sprague of No. 130 Commonwealth avenue in the North Shore, where the Carnegie's summer place at Manhattan.

50 ANTI-TRUST CASES AGAINST DAUGHTERY

Senate Committee is Shaping Proceedings for the Investigation

Washington, March 5.—Plans to investigate Attorney-General Daugherty have advanced sufficiently to indicate that the special committee of the Senate will take up first the charges of failure to press anti-trust law cases (submitted to the Department of Justice by the Federal Trade Commission).

The anti-trust law cases, which number about fifty, were emphasized in the impeachment proceedings against Mr. Daugherty about a year ago, and Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, prime mover in the inquiry, to assembling papers and complaints dealing with them.

Mr. Wheeler, who has been assigned the task of determining procedure, also has decided in his unofficial role of "prosecutor" to employ an attorney to assist him as law clerk.

WINS FREEDOM FROM TICKLING HUSBAND

Young Wife Tells of Mate's Mad Obsession; Lost 35 Pounds

Springfield, Ct., March 5 (U.S.S.)—Never again will John A. Valender, Brookline shoe salesman, tickle the ribs of pretty Carrie M. Valender, whom he married July 22, 1917 in New Canaan.

Judge Isaac Wolfe, at Bridgeport, has granted Carrie Valender a divorce and the right to use her maiden name, all because Sakenberg tickled her.

The young wife said: "My husband slowly developed a desire to tickle me. He became obsessed with a childish delight, not only in grabbing me with both hands, digging his long and powerful fingers into my ribs, but also in painfully pinching and slapping me on the back, causing a rapid decline in my health. Every time he clasped my waist he would let out a childish laugh, which grew louder as his fingers pressed deeper into my side. No wonder I lost thirty-five pounds before I left him. I was slowly becoming skin and bones."

Mrs. Valender's story, as well as depositions of her family physician, form the basis of a report by a referee to Judge Wolfe.

The referee reported as follows: "Acts of the defendant consisted of very shortly after the marriage and continuing during the whole of their married life down to May 21, 1922, in an almost insane method of tickling her to the extent she would be driven into paroxysms of trembling, nervousness and crying, this being accompanied on his part by a childish laugh, sometimes causing her to fall upon the floor and continuing until she was utterly exhausted."

The plaintiff is a woman of slight build, at the time of her marriage weighing 115 pounds, and at the time referred to counsel and medical advice of family physician, her weight was something like eight pounds.

300 PERISHED WHEN LANTERN WAS UPSET
Shanghai, March 5 (U.S.S.)—Overturning of a lantern in a stable caused the fire which destroyed the town of Chousien in Shantung Province, killing 300 persons, the authorities said today. Ten thousand are homeless.

More than 400 are injured and dying from burns.

DROPS 5 FLOORS BURIED IN DEBRIS

Catastrophed along with a ton of debris from the fifth floor of a building on the street, James Shipley, aged forty-two of No. 102 Broadway, Chelsea, is near death at the Reber Hospital, suffering from internal injuries, and many broken bones.

Shipley, employed by the New England Construction Company, with other workmen were engaged in repairing the building at Nos. 95 and 24 second street. Shipley was working on the fifth floor when a portion of the wall gave way.

He was carried with the debris far out into the street. He was unconscious when other workers dug him out of the bricks and rubble. His name is on the danger list.

AUTO THIEF CAPTURED IN POLICE CHASE

Youth Who Escaped in Hartford Seized Here After Shots Are Fired

After a chase in which ten policemen took part and many shots were fired, Henry Shugrue of Somerville avenue, Somerville, who escaped from the authorities at Hartford, Ct., yesterday, was captured in the South End.

Shugrue, a dapper youth of nineteen, is wanted for the theft of an automobile. While awaiting trial at Hartford he slipped his handcuffs, dashed from the Court House and escaped in an automobile he stole in Thompsonville, Ct.

When Patrolman Cope and Kahler of the East Indian street station saw a car speeding down the street today they ordered the driver to stop. When he put on more speed the police opened fire. The machine swerved on February 25 at the request of the Hartford authorities.

Police charge he stole other cars in Boston and drove them to Hartford to dispose of them. Then, they allege, he would return in a stolen car from Hartford and dispose of the machine here.

He will be returned to Hartford.

A Story of a Pleasure-Mad Girl

NEVER will she forget that dreadful night which in a few short hours changed her from a laughing, carefree, pleasure-loving girl to a serious minded, careworn woman of the world.

Poor little Kate—once too often she had cast the dice with fate and now she was called upon to pay. It was not the first time she had taken auto rides with strange men through country roads and dusky lanes, not the first time she had dropped in at a road-house for a midnight lurch with a man she had never met before. But it was to be the last, for to-night this little moth, gayly fluttering around the flame of life, had flown too close.

If she had only known, if the thousands of girls who every year learn by terrible experience, could only be made to realize that no matter what the provocation, no girl can afford to disregard convention, become careless in her personal conduct, or sacrifice her dignity in the pursuit of pleasure, what countless hours of living death would be avoided.

"My Stranger Husband" is her story, as told by herself. It is a tale of the experience of an ordinary girl, not bad—just average, who in her eagerness to taste the joys of life tried to force the hand of fate. It is in True Story Magazine for April.

From the safe haven of your own fireside see the mistakes she made, see her thoughtlessly abuse her newfound freedom, see the methods by which men she had never met scraped her acquaintance, ride with her on moon-lit roads, see the grim joke played upon her by fate in the guise of a man, follow her through months and years of atonement, even to the shadow of the prison wall. Not only a lesson in life, that thousands pay years of tears and agony to learn but a splendid, vivid true story that will hold your deepest interest to the closing word.

It was not the first time she had dropped into a road house for a midnight lurch with a man she had never met before—but tonight this little moth, gayly fluttering around the flame of life, had flown too close.

Vivid Heart-Stories Fearlessly Told

Here Are Just A Few of the Remarkable Features In The April Issue of True Story Magazine

"The Lure of Green Eyes"—Good looking, an athlete, a splendid student, he led his class in college until he attracted the fancy of Nora Sanderson, beautiful divorcee, woman of the world and ruthless. Then he began to fall behind until, when graduation time came round, he was barely able to make a passing grade. Not understanding women of her type, he considered himself as playing a temporary, pleasant role which he could abandon at any time he chose. But when finally true love came into his life and he tried to break with Nora—but read this amazing story of a mistake that ruins the lives of thousands of young men every year.

"A Fool There Was"—Fresh from the country, he was burdened with self-consciousness, and the morals of ten generations of ministers. By his associates in the city he was considered "just a poor dud." He decided that what he needed was knowledge—knowledge of life—of women—especially of women. He got it—but in a manner and with completeness he could never forget. The things he learned will be of as much value to you as they were to him.

"The Price of Silence"—When she left her baby on her mother's doorstep to be taken in as a founding age thought she had reached a happy solution of her problem. But years later, when it became necessary for her to break two loving hearts and bare her own, broken those many years in order to forestall an even grimmer tragedy, she realized that sooner or later sin will out. Read this story of an erring woman's life and be glad that you do not have to pay for the knowledge as she had to pay.

"A Wife In The Way"—They married while almost children. As the years passed he developed into a brilliant, talented man on the threshold of a great career while she grew to be a narrow minded, shallow incapable woman—a millstone hung around his neck. Eventually he met the woman who of all women in the world could make him happy. The manner in which these three worked out their destinies makes a thrilling tale of love and tragedy, smiles and tears such as you have seldom read. A powerful argument against thoughtless or too early marriage.

"When Hope Seemed Dead"—When a girl who has given her heart to one man, marries another whom she does not love because her parents wish it, is she not working a terrible injustice upon all three? Is not tragedy, suffering, unhappiness and regret almost sure to follow? Would it not be better to defy her parents to do their worst rather than face the terrible consequences and temptations of such an alliance? This story, told by a girl who had to decide these questions for herself will make wonderful reading and give you a deep insight into human nature.

Why True Story Magazine is a Powerful Influence For Good

True Story Magazine is all that its name implies. Its stories of love, romance, adventure, intrigue, passion, wickedness, sorrow, tragedy are stories as they actually happen in real life. The fictionist, novelist and playwright build their stories according to a pattern. Their purpose is only to entertain. The writers in True Story Magazine follow no pattern but life itself. Stripped of all the artificiality that so warps and falsifies life in books, the personal chronicles in True Story Magazine have a depth, a sincerity, a "ring of truth" that not only warns, guides, instructs and stimulates, but at the same time holds the reader enthralled.

True Story A Missionary to Boys and Girls

"It is with much pleasure I give my whole-hearted endorsement of your magazine TRUE STORY. It lifts it above the world and unnatural types of life which our young people have depicted for them in many of our cheap movies and in much of the literature of today. In addition to acting as an antidote to these, your magazine will create a condition of mind where the actual facts of life can be freely investigated and discussed without fear of arousing a false modesty into indignation. I have long been convinced that to raise the moral tone of our people, we must learn to face the actual facts of life, and deal with these facts on the moral plane. I feel that parents could not do better than to let their boys and girls so that the great lessons of life may be presented in such a way as to free them from the immoral slant which is so often the reality and of life. What applies to the young is applicable also to adults. If a narrative of this nature is read in every home I believe it would tend to broaden horizons and to the direction of the many things leading to the divorce courts. (Signed) Rev. F. McDevor

Bornier Macfadden the man who founded True Story Magazine, who made it the success it is today and who has always controlled its editorial policy.

WILLS OFFERED $15,000 TO BATTLE MCCREARY IN BOSTON

BATTER RELEASES CHAMPION

By JACK CONWAY
"Harry Wills, colored heavyweight champion, complains because he cannot get a bout with Jack Dempsey," says Alex McCrory. "Wills is revealing the fact he is being deprived of an opportunity to make money being."

"Wills, although he is making a great deal of noise about now, would knock out Dempsey, cannot be dragged into a ring with McCrory. This is rather laughable when one considers that McCrory at his best only scales 115 pounds, while Wills weighs 210 pounds."

"You cannot blame Wills for dodging McCrory for when the latter met the colored heavyweight champion in Rochester years ago he gave Harry the hardest battle of the career. At the time Wills was an experienced fighter, McCrory a 'green' youngster."

MCCREARY HAS OTHER STARS IN HIS STABLE
"Since then McCrory has defeated Ed Norfolk, Jack Taylor and other tough opposition. The latter lost the decision to Norfolk in his last contest. This was because he was overweighed. McCrory entered the ring weighing 190 pounds when his best fighting weight is 115 pounds."

"At Providence, less than a week later, McCrory, weighing only 115 pounds, defeated Jack Taylor."

"I have a very strenuous program mapped out for the latter. His big objective will be a contest with Harry Wills. In the meanwhile we are prepared to talk business with Lou Forno, whom McCrory would knock out with much trouble, Battling Siki, another soft one for McCrory, and Kid Norfolk, one of the best of the colored fighters."

McCrory is also managing Billy Murphy of Lowell, one of the most promising lightweights in the country. Murphy had a long run of victories in his credit and is expected to upset any 125-135 boxer. Don't be surprised if the Lowell youth is the next lightweight champion of the world. Right now Murphy would make a chopping block out of Bailey or Byron, or defeated New England lightweight "Columbia" Jones.

AMATEUR BOXERS HAVE THEIR INNINGS SOON
Those of you who crave for ring action will get it at the amateur boxing show at the St. Joseph's A. A. facility which is in the Commercial Hall on Tuesday night. President Billy Cuddy announces a large entry list. There will be bouts for novices at 48 and 118 pounds and in the heavyweight division, while the 126 and 140-pound classes will be open to amateurs. Amateur shows continued by this action always attract the best of the "simon-pure."

Charlie Carpio comes to bat with a challenge in behalf of Victor Hirsch of Malden. Hirsch would like to go a match with Nino Signa who is in the midst of a gay come-back. The Malden heavyweight is one of the most satisfactory performers of his weight in New England.

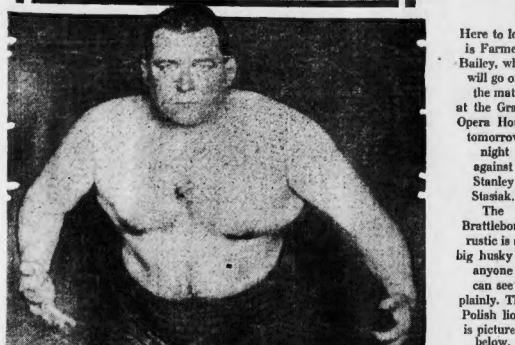

Carpio also informed us that Red Chapman of Dorchester, who is in Detroit organizing his new grocery store, will soon return to Boston. Maybe he will consent to take on Eddie Williams of East Boston, one of the world's leading junior lightweights. Honeyshop Phineas, and some of the other well-known junior lightweight stars refuse to meet Williams. They hardly blame them as the East Boston youth carries too many guns for them.

Farmer Bailey, Brattleboro giant who met Stanley Stasiak in a big bout, last two falls out of the ring. At the Old Haven's show at the Grand Opera House on tomorrow night, proved the power of PITCHER'S PRINCE. Bailey asked for a bout with Stasiak and was ignored. He persisted, but continued to get the toughest heavyweights in the country. Bailey then took his case to the people. He secured the signatures of 1500 wrestling fans demanding a bout between himself and the Pole. Stasiak could not very well continue his developing act by fighting a virtual crowd in signing for tomorrow night's engagement.

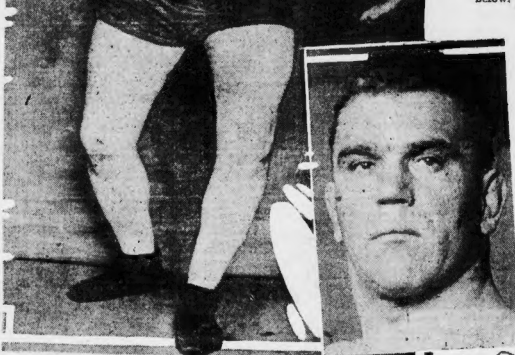

You will see tremendous human power in action once he bell sounds.

BOSTON HORSEMAN DIES IN NEWTON
Casper B. Holden, known as "Cap" Holden, one of the best-known horsemen in Greater Boston, and one of the oldest members of the Metropolitan Driving Club, died at his home, No. 4 Broadview avenue, Boston, as a result of a fractured skull sustained in November when he was struck by a horse while he was driving.

BILLED IN BIG MAT BOUT

SANDE A STAR IN THE GREAT WHITE WAY

Jack Sande, America's premier jockey, who brought Zev home a year over pay-in the great international match recently, launches his career as a regular film star in "The Great White Way," the new film which is presenting at the Park Theatre.

In this new film Sande appears as one of the characters in the new track, "The Great White Way" was adapted to the screen by Luther Reed, and H. C. Waver's popular story, "Chin and Mabel," was the foundation for the screen version.

The cast includes Anita Stewart, T. Roy Barnes, Oscar Gray, Tom Lewis, Doris Davidson, Hal Fardo, John Henshaw, and a long list of supporting celebrities, including Damon Runyon, Irving S. Cobb, "Bugs" Moran, the Humphreys, Jimmy Gallagher, Pete Hartley, Harry Hershfield, Ned Wexham and the entire chorus of the Zevford Palace in one of the big scenes.

BOSTON HOCKEYISTS BACK FROM OLYMPICS
New York, March 5.—Six members of the American Olympic hockey squad, which lost to Canada in the final of the international contest at Chamonix, returned on the America, accompanied by William S. Haddock of Pittsburgh, manager of the team. The players in the party were Alphonse LaCroix, Justin McCarthy, Frank Sinner, John Tooms, William and Luke Langley, all of Boston.

LAWRENCE WINNER AGAINST MALDEN
Lawrence, March 5.—Lawrence High School track squad defeated the Malden High aggregation, 49 to 17, in a dual met staged in the evening. Lawrence took every first and the relay, which was featured by the winning of the 1,000 yard run by Wheeler of Lawrence. It was the last meet of the season for Lawrence.

ZBASKO PICKS BALLY TO WIN OVER STASIAK

Wladko Zbasko, the Mighty Lion of Poland, is out with the prediction that Farmer Bailey will defeat Stanley Stasiak at the Grand Opera House in their finish wrestling match tomorrow night. Wladko, who is locked horns with Bailey in a bout in New York City.

This was in Wladko Zbasko the international wrestling tourney where Wladko won the world's title and Bailey, owing to an injury, was forced to be content with third honor. Wladko, a Pole himself, almost side in with Stasiak but such is not the case. He dislikes Stasiak and wants to see him beaten. The fact that Stasiak has posted $10,000 to meet Zbasko in a return match has gathered this feeling.

Bailey impressed the fans who gathered to watch his workout. He showed almost superhuman strength. He tossed his wrestling partners around as if they were children. He would then apply the chin lock and throw them the length of the mat.

Bailey comes out cold turkey and says his chin lock and nothing else was responsible for his success. Joe going to bed.

Stasiak is in wonderful shape for the bout. He is in better shape than at any time since he has started in the wrestling game. He has been good on the occasion or it will be curtains for him. He was in a bad humor when told that Zbasko was picking Bailey to win.

"Why should he want to see me defeated when he is a Pole himself?" he said. "He threw me out of the ring when we last met. Just wait. He can't help the Farmer tomorrow night and after that he will have to help himself."

Angelo Tarnaschuk is getting himself into wonderful shape for his own fall match with Jack Albert. Fans are just beginning to see what a great wrestler the Italian really is. Savage Tarnaschuk will open the show with a one fall contest with some tough light-heavyweight yet to be selected.

Eagles Challenge Elis, Tigers and Green

Boston College hockey team is hot on the trail of Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth. The team is anxious to measure itself with any of these teams.

If a game could be arranged here it would be the feature of the local college season.

Frank A. Reynolds, graduate manager of athletics at Boston College, has sent letters to all three colleges and suggests a game and also a novel plan for the allotment of the receipts such a game would produce.

The letters are addressed to Graduate Managers Joseph Murray of Princeton, Max A. Norton of Dartmouth and John T. Blossom of Yale.

The letter follows:

"As you probably know great difficulty is being experienced by the American committee to raise the necessary $250,000 for the Olympic team."

"I sincerely believe Boston College, Yale and Princeton are in a position at the present to be of great assistance to the committee."

"I have the following proposal to offer and trust you will give same serious consideration. It is possible for us to play a post-season hockey game here at the Boston Arena, the only expense to be met being the expenses of your team, and from Princeton, New Haven or Hanover, and the running expenses of the arena."

"We are now ending our season, and feel that the cause of the American Olympic team is sufficient to warrant our playing one or more games, if by doing so we can be of any assistance to such a worthy and honorable cause."

"It is only by such cooperation on the part of all American citizens and institutions that the funds can be raised."

There will be bouts in six different classes, with Paddy Blodgett, 24, of West Newton, Mass., preferred for the championship of the college in the heavy-weight division.

A feature on the program for the first time is a ju-jitsu match between Takematsu Takasato, special student and P. J. Woodward, 22, taken Tarnaschuk jitsu under the Japanese masters in his own country.

There will be a number of undergraduates since his arrival at Dartmouth.

The performance is given for the benefit of the Mary Hitchcock Hospital and is attended, not only by the students, but by a large number of neighboring towns in a radius of twenty miles.

NASHUA SEXTET IS BOOKED AT THE ARENA

The Nationals of Nashua, N. H., will play Boston College at the Arena tonight. The record made by the Nashua team is a 10-0-0, turning back 14 teams in a row, indicates it is bound to be a big power the team possesses.

These flying Frenchmen from New Hampshire are likely to find the game extremely hot when the Boston College midge forward line cuts loose. Condition is bound to be a big factor.

The Eagles have beaten five good opponents in a row—Maple, Boston Hockey Club, Abington, West Point and the Nationals of Montreal.

There is a chance that Jerry Ocan will be back in the R. A. A. for the league game with the Maples tomorrow night. The Ocan players are very anxious to pin another defeat on the Maples. Bitter feeling exists between the teams.

Boston College will be up against it Friday when the Eagles tackle the Shamrocks of Ottawa.

The lineup of the Shamrocks shows a forward line of Jack Darragh, Bill Miller and Grey Burnett. These men need no introduction to Boston fans. Miller and Darragh played with Pittsburgh two years ago and Burnett was a star performer with the St. Pat's of Ottawa.

If Boston College beats this crack line of forwards it will be the best achievement these spectacular midsize have turned in this season.

Eddie Mack Wins
Stamford, Ct., March 6.—Eddie Mack of Stamford, Conn., champion won the decision over Marty Silvers of Brooklyn in ten rounds.

Mack won all six away and turned in a sensational performance, but his opponent a decision over him in six rounds in Madison Square Garden.

BASEBALL PICTURE CONTEST A BIG HIT WITH THE FANS

WINTERS IN FIRST DAY

Dave Bancroft, manager and shortstop of the Boston Braves, is the right name for picture number one, and below is a list of the first ten who will enjoy the opening game of the base season in Boston:

Harry Peck, No. 25 Poplar street, Boston.
John Behan, No. 18 North Payne street, New Bedford.
Jerryweeney, No. 24 Beach street, New Bedford.
John Morse, No. 25 Union street, Everett.

James E. Quinn, No. 10 Garfield avenue, Melrose.
Bertha T. Tilden, No. 238 St. Burrough street, Back Bay.
Frank Magno, No. 23 Turner street, Salem.
George Deschamps, No. 289 North Underwood street, Fall River.
Edward Kerr, No. 127 Lexington avenue, Cambridge.
William E. Perry, No. 270 Field street, New Bedford.

As was anticipated, the office was deluged with letters and names were kept busy all day examining the replies and checking up on the names of the winners. More than a thousand letters were examined before the winners were picked.

BE SURE TO READ THE RULES CAREFULLY.

Now before you answer today's question, read the rules carefully. The contest editor is obliged to ask that the rules be strictly followed, as it will be otherwise impossible to maintain the thousands of letters which are received.

Today's picture is number 2. On every envelope, the number of the picture must appear in the lower left-hand corner. This will enable the editor to sort out the letters properly, as yesterday, many answers to picture number one were received with answers to the first picture.

The name of the player and the name and address of the sender must be written clearly and legibly. Make it impossible to make out the address of the sender, and it will be discarded.

NEATNESS AND LEGIBILITY WILL BE DECIDING FACTORS.

Wise a few letters mailed at the same time are examined, neatness and legibility will be the deciding factors.

Many fans have called on the telephone to learn about the rules of the contest. Some think that they should hold their answers until the twenty pictures are printed. If they do this, they will be out of luck.

The rules of the contest will be published tomorrow.

TICKETS ARE LEFT.

There will still be 100 tickets left, so those who have not been fortunate enough to be in the list of winners may have a good chance to be in the list of winners.

Winners of yesterday's contest will be published tomorrow.

DARTMOUTH PLAYS HARVARD TONIGHT

Hanover, N. H., March 5.—Dartmouth's basketball squad, composed of ten men, left here today to meet the Crimson quints at Cambridge tonight.

The Harvard contest will be the last meeting of the Green with a team outside of the Intercollegiate League. Two games remain on the calendar, one with Princeton and one with Princeton the following week.

After the good showing made against the Tigers last night, the Green is the favorite.

The probable lineup will be Fred Mann and Toolner, forwards; Edwards, center; Sailer and Goss, guards.

Relieves Headache

A little Musterole, rubbed on forehead and temples, will usually relieve headache. A clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Musterole is a natural remedy with none of the evil after-effects so often caused by "internal medicine."

ST. JOSEPH'S ENTRIES WILL CLOSE TONIGHT

Entries will close tonight for the amateur boxing tournament of St. Joseph's, A. B. at Commercial Hall, Broadway square, tomorrow night.

Although it was expected that the entries would close last night, William H. Cuddy announced that they will be kept open until tonight.

Six classes are on the card. Two for men and four for women. The prize in the 135 lb. and heavyweight divisions.

The open classes are at 124, 135, 147 and 160 lbs.

Entries will be sent to W. H. Cuddy, 91 Cambridge street.

ARMORY

The East Armory, East Newton street, will be the scene of a rare athletic exhibition tomorrow evening.

The contest editor is obliged to ask that the rules be strictly followed, as it will be otherwise impossible to maintain the thousands of letters which are received.

Today's picture is number 2. On every envelope, the number of the picture must appear in the lower left-hand corner. This will enable the editor to sort out the letters properly, as yesterday, many answers to picture number one were received with answers to the first picture.

The name of the player and the name and address of the sender must be written clearly and legibly. Make it impossible to make out the address of the sender, and it will be discarded.

NEATNESS AND LEGIBILITY WILL BE DECIDING FACTORS.

Wise a few letters mailed at the same time are examined, neatness and legibility will be the deciding factors.

Many fans have called on the telephone to learn about the rules of the contest. Some think that they should hold their answers until the twenty pictures are printed. If they do this, they will be out of luck.

The rules of the contest will be published tomorrow.

There will still be 100 tickets left, so those who have not been fortunate enough to be in the list of winners may have a good chance to be in the list of winners.

Winners of yesterday's contest will be published tomorrow.

DARTMOUTH PLAYS HARVARD TONIGHT

Hanover, N. H., March 5.—Dartmouth's basketball squad, composed of ten men, left here today to meet the Crimson quints at Cambridge tonight.

The Harvard contest will be the last meeting of the Green with a team outside of the Intercollegiate League. Two games remain on the calendar, one with Princeton and one with Princeton the following week.

After the good showing made against the Tigers last night, the Green is the favorite.

The probable lineup will be Fred Mann and Toolner, forwards; Edwards, center; Sailer and Goss, guards.

Relieves Headache

A little Musterole, rubbed on forehead and temples, will usually relieve headache. A clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Musterole is a natural remedy with none of the evil after-effects so often caused by "internal medicine."

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for the smallest child. Ask for Children's Musterole.

50¢ and 25¢ tubes; hospitals, etc., 10¢.

ST. JOSEPH'S ENTRIES WILL CLOSE TONIGHT

Entries will close tonight for the amateur boxing tournament of St. Joseph's, A. B. at Commercial Hall, Broadway square, tomorrow night.

Although it was expected that the entries would close last night, William H. Cuddy announced that they will be kept open until tonight.

Six classes are on the card. Two for men and four for women. The prize in the 135 lb. and heavyweight divisions.

The open classes are at 124, 135, 147 and 160 lbs.

Entries will be sent to W. H. Cuddy, 91 Cambridge street.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic Coughs and Persistent Colds Lead to Serious Lung Trouble. You Can Stop Them Now With Creomulsion, an Emulsification of Cod Liver Oil That Is Pleasant to Take Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, Creomulsion is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that lead to consumption. Creomulsion is a guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is especially helpful in bringing up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Boston Lying-in-Hospital Brings Real Service Into Thousands of Homes

Pre-Natal Clinics in Six Sections of City Make Mercy Work Possible

This is the tenth of a series of articles which is a report to the newspaper's investigation of medical quackery in Greater Boston.

If you are not acquainted with reputable physicians and wish to make sure of obtaining expert advice and care during the pregnancy, you may find it well to consult the best in the country.

One activity not included in the ethics of quack doctors is charity. While some of the most prominent physicians and surgeons in the country give unsparingly of their time and efforts to the alleviation of the ills of the poor, this is never true of quack doctors.

A hospital unique in its work of mercy, in that it caters to the poor, is the Lying-in Hospital, which is a particular interest in natives of European countries who would not be admitted to a city institution, for instance, unless a five-year residence had been established.

This establishment caters to all metropolitan Boston, but takes a particular interest in natives of European countries who would not be admitted to a city institution, for instance, unless a five-year residence had been established.

Since 1875, when the hospital was reopened—it had been discontinued for lack of funds—the hospital has taken care of more than 25,000 mothers in the wards, and more than 24,000 mothers have been taken care of in their homes.

Pre-natal clinics have been established in six different localities in the city of Boston, where expectant mothers go weekly for advice, and when the time comes for the birth of the child, a doctor connected with the hospital will go on call and deliver the baby at the patient's home or, in the hospital, as the case may warrant, free of charge.

Unequalled arrangements have been made for the treatment of pre-natal babies in a ward where any desired temperature or humidity can be automatically provided.

A feature of this ward is the Alpine Lamp, which, with its invisible, ultra-violet rays, is used on these babies for the prevention of rickets.

Clinic hours for pre-natal instruction are given at the hospital from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.

ALPINE LAMP BANISHING RICKETS

This is one of the remarkable developments of medical science that features the work of the Lying-in Hospital in Longwood avenue. Nurse Eleanor Hickey is administering the lamp treatment, with its invisible, ultra-violet rays, to prevent rickets in the baby. This and other treatment is free to poor mothers.

patients from Charlestown, East Boston, North End and West End, is open Thursdays and Saturdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.

The clinic at No. 14 Hollis street, South End, which cares for patients in the South End, South Boston and Dorchester is open Tuesday and Saturdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.

Dorchester, Boston Proper and outlying towns are taken care of at the main hospital, No. 221 Longwood avenue.

The three foregoing stations supply doctors for childbirth at home, free, as well as holding clinics. CAMBRIDGE POL IS INDICTED AS THIEF

Francis E. Germaine Faces Trial for Alleged Larceny of $450

Francis E. Germaine, prominent Cambridge politician, faced arraignment today in Middlesex Superior Court on an indictment charging larceny of $450 from Addison St. Road, No. 1904 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, who sought, and failed to obtain a permit to build a garage in August of last year.

Germaine was arrested by Boston police inspectors acting for District Attorney Arthur K. Reading of Middlesex County, who has been investigating Cambridge city affairs for several weeks, in connection with graft charges.

For several weeks District Attorney Reading and his assistant, Robert T. Bushnell, have been probing charges that persons wishing to obtain permits for the erection of garages have been forced to pay politicians money.

Information as to the specific charges against Germaine in the present case could not be obtained from the district attorney's office. The indictment is "secret."

It was during the Summer last year that Germaine is alleged to have paid money to a politician who said he was acting for a man "higher up" in order to obtain a permit to erect a garage. The permit was never issued, according to officials.

"TACK BABY" NOW FIGHTS PNEUMONIA

St. Louis, March 5.—Baby Cleus Moore, eight months old, whose hurried trip to Philadelphia, for removal of a tack from his lung was watched by the entire nation, is threatened again.

Pneumonia, feared when the tack endangered the baby's life, has set in, the wound made by the tack having failed to heal. The child is in the city hospital here and his condition is precarious.

What Congests Boston's Streets? The Common and Public Garden? Do They Stop the City's Growth in the Right Direction? ---I Think They Do---J. P. Collins

What would happen if we built beautiful broad avenues across the Common and Public Garden, bringing Commonwealth Avenue, Newbury Street and Marlborough Street across to Tremont Street?

CAN YOU VISUALIZE THE RESULT?

Imagine a city of Boston's size making people walk in the streets in the middle of the shopping district. Lives endangered every day, traffic always slowed up and congested. Why not build up the Common and Public Garden, after the streets have been laid out, into a beautiful, big business section, with business houses, hotels, public buildings, etc.?

What a beautiful section we could make out of it! The taxes from this section would reduce the tax rate of Boston substantially.

We could give the people better parks and playgrounds in their neighborhoods with a fraction of the money obtained from the sale of Common and Public Garden land.

J. P. Collins

I will pay one hundred dollars ($100.00), maybe more, for good suggestions and good plans to lay out that part of our city as above suggested.

Let me hear from those interested by mail only.

'White Way' Appeals to All, Bert Ford Tells Radio Fans

FIGHT SCENE FROM "THE GREAT WHITE WAY"
Intense excitement was evinced by the crowd watching the thrilling fight encounter between Oscar Shaw and Joe Cain and Peter Hartley, one of the leading lightweights of the world, who impersonated Jimmy Hartley, in the great film shown in the above picture as Stanley Ford, at left, with large hat; Anita Stewart and T. $1,000,000 Movie Full of Swift Action and Many Surprises; Thrills Galore

Bert Ford, one of the speakers at the Boston American concert broadcast last night from WNAC and WEAN, the Shepherd Plaza, Boston and Providence, made an address in which he related to the Compton picture Corporation's film epic, "The Great White Way." Mr. Ford's address followed:

BY BERT FORD.
My subject tonight is "The Great White Way," that romance and magic there is in the title. What thoughts it conjures up in New York's bohemia and in London.

Similar Lewis novel, "Mad Street," has a prototype in every town and city. The "Main Street" of New York is Broadway, famed in song and story, especially that stretch of it touching the "Housing Forces."

Life is travelled on high in that canyon of modern civilization. A dream and a dream in this high way of joy and despair, of triumph and tragedy, of success and failure, of ecstasy and tears. It has been termed "The avenue of broken hearts" and "The north end of the world." The gamut of human emotion is there.

FITTING STAGE.
What more fitting stage for the Compton Corporation's latest film epic "The Great White Way," which has started a month's run at the Park Theatre in Boston, after a record run in New York.

The filming of such a "location" resulted in a production that satisfies the eye and the ear. It is a masterpiece of the art of the cinema. It is a masterpiece of the art of the cinema. It is a masterpiece of the art of the cinema.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was working after I got married and the young lady who worked next to me asked me if I had any intentions of having a child. I told her I would be the happiest woman on earth if I could have a mother, but I always had serious cramps, backaches and headaches. She then told me of a woman who wrote her book Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the same trouble and it helped her greatly. I took about a half bottle and found that the following month I did not suffer any pain, so I kept on taking it. I have a wonderful baby six months old and he is as strong and fat as any one could wish a baby to be. I still take the Vegetable Compound regularly because I have looked fine all the time and felt fine and my mother told me that was the reason. child and I was afraid that I could never have any more, for I had been told that I never could have a living child for I was not strong enough to carry one. But they were mistaken and I had a nice baby boy and now I have five children. I can't praise your medicine enough. My youngest sister has taken it, too, and praises it."—Mrs. G. L. WILSON, 43 Mechanics Row, Auburn, Maine.

These cases are similar to many others reported to me. It is well for women to carefully consider such statements and to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It may bring great joy to your home.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent of these replies are "Yes."

That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This goes to prove that a medicine specially prepared for certain definite ailments—not a cure-all—can and does do good. For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a medicine for women. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Salesman won't start out without a bottle of REM in grip

Mr. George F. King's office is 816-818 Woolworth Building, New York City, but his home, you might say, is all over the country. For the last 50 years he has been traveling from Coast to Coast and from Canada to the border. REM relieved him of a very bad cough in Pittsburgh. Now he won't travel without it.

As he sat in his Woolworth Building offices he told us how he happened to learn of REM.

"I had started out on one of my cross-continent swings. I had a cough when I left New York. But by the time I got to Pittsburgh it was so bad I just had to get something for it."

"First I tried different cough syrups, then throat lozenges, but nothing I took seemed able to check my cough. I'd be up half the night coughing, and it seemed as if I'd tear my throat out."

"Then a little girl clerk in a drug store told me about REM and how it helped her father's cough when he had one like mine. That girl will never know what a service she did me."

"To say that REM's the best thing I've ever found anywhere for a cough is the simple truth. I had hardly taken two doses before the tickling was relieved. And soon my cough loosened up, and before long I was my old self again."

"Now I wouldn't travel without REM. Not long ago I sent a bottle to a lady in Cincinnati, and a few days later she wrote me that it was the best cough medicine she'd ever taken."

The surprising popularity of REM for coughs is due very largely to grateful users who have passed the good word along.

3 MINUTE JOURNEYS

Where a Bitch Rarely Speaks for Six Months.

ALTHOUGH we seldom hear or read much about Albania—that extremely mountainous country which for many years was a part of European Turkey, and the boundaries of which even now are in dispute—it is one of the most interesting of all European countries. Here tribes that are shut off from the rest of the world by mountains still preserve their independence, and the peculiar customs that have been there for thousands of years. Tribal blood feuds and various habits of thought and action flourish in the same way they did during the Middle Ages and even earlier.

The stage of civilization of a people is directly reflected by the estimation in which they hold women. Perhaps no other custom more clearly shows the way women are viewed in Albania than a curious custom of silence imposed on a bride. All the other women of the house or the village may speak to a man when they wish, but the bride must never speak until she is spoken to.

This brings about a curious prepossession in the mind of the traveler when he first looks down the line of several tables at which both women and men are dining in the home of a well-to-do Albanian. In the degree of their importance, the men and the women are seated at these tables. Those who dine at the table furthest from the host—table of least importance. Much conversation goes on among both men and women, and none talk more volubly than the women.

Getting upon the subject, the eye inevitably rests on one beautiful woman, who, strange to say, is silent. She doesn't join in the general talk. She speaks only when some one speaks to her.

When the others finish their meal and rise from the table, she is the first to spring to her feet. And when new guests are served indoors or outdoors, the youngest woman is the last to utter a word. Indeed, she is invited to do so until she is invited to do so.

Inquiry reveals the fact that this woman is a bride, and that—following the custom of country—she does not speak nor meet until older members of her new family invite her to join them.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

SCIENTISTS have discovered that animals are more temperamental than human beings. This may be true, but can you imagine a dog not eating his dinner unless his master put on evening clothes?

STILL, a Chicago man had a Boston boy who wouldn't ride in the family automobile until it was paid for.

AND by the time it was paid for it was so old that he wouldn't even ride in it then.

THIS same carrier was no little that he snubbed the dog of the people next door.

IT'S funny how he knew his master had more money than the owner of the other dog.

HE must have been reading the financial magazines.

HE'S so convinced that he won't growl at another dog on the street until he looks him up in "Who's Who."

HE wouldn't even bark at a cat unless he knew all about her pedigree.

IT'S terrible to have a watch dog who's so temperamental that he won't bite at all.

HE has to know absolutely well before he'll sink his teeth in their leg.

HE'D probably expect burglars to bring letters of introduction with them.

ONE guy had a dog who wouldn't attack anybody that he hadn't met socially.

ROBBERS could carry away everything in the house and the dog wouldn't interfere unless he was properly introduced.

EVERY time his master would take him outside and let him dig for bones he'd have to come in the house afterward and have his nails manicured.

THE best way to take the in on a dog is to tell him how much you paid for him.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan
The Queen Who Founded Ancient Carthage

So obscure is she by the mistle of antiquity that the name of Dido, queen of Carthage, comes down to us at least as a tradition. However, this queen actually lived and picked her career so full of adventure that the events of her rule have furnished material for poets and novelists from the ninth century before Christ to the present day.

Dido was the daughter of Belus, King of Tyre. She married her uncle, Sicheus, priest of Hercules. Pyramus set her off on her astonishing activities by murdering Sicheus to obtain possession of his kingdom.

Dido, however, had no intention of allowing the wealth to get out of her own hands. So calmly appropriating as much of it as she could, she was surrounded by a host of admirers. In the night, and with her court and most of her armies, she fled to a new settlement, founding a city on the coast of Africa. She was the founder of Carthage.

Dido's beauty and fame attracted many suitors, but she preferred to remain alone.

Her independence so angered the rulers of the day that they determined to make war upon her country unless she married him within a stated period.

Dido secretly refused to be forced into a marriage which she would not make voluntarily. She accordingly, upon the last day of the term set by Jaroas, she caused a funeral pyre to be kindled. While the flames roared at the base of the mound, she lay down and stabbed herself to death.

Very odd, however, have represented Dido's dramatic death as the suicide of the unrepentant Jao King.

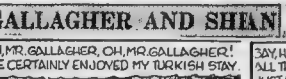

This however is poetical fiction, since they did not live in the same age.

Dido was honored as a deity by her subjects after her death.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beckman

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: When receiving a telephone call it is considered a lack of etiquette if the receiver of the call does not thank the caller for his or her call or if it is unnecessary to thank a person for calling.

2. Kindly tell me the proper way to introduce a married couple? Any difference made in the introduction when the couple is being introduced to a lady or a gentleman?

3. At a "Movie," who goes ahead down the aisle and the gentleman when there is an usher to point out seats?

MRS. E. R. H.

THANKING a person for telephoning is one of those polite, social amenities that add to the beauty and grace of living. While it is of course not absolutely necessary and is scorned by those people who are absorbed in emphasizing the humdrum of life, it is done by people whose manners we admire. Also it gives a grateful smile to be a bit awkward in the last few seconds it gives the same effect in ending a telephone call that a gracious pleasant smile gives to the end of a social call.

2. Introduce the wife first to the lady present. When introducing an unmarried lady to her mention first the name of the mistress: "Mrs. Smith; Miss Jones." Then present the gentleman to the wife, mentioning her name first: "Mrs. Smith; Mr. Jones." If there are several gentlemen to be introduced, you need not, unless you wish, repeat the name of the wife after her name, then the name of the first gentleman to be introduced, then look at her again and say the name, and look at the next gentleman, mentioning his name: "Mrs. Smith; Mr. Jones; Mr. North; Mr. West; Dr. Drake." Next present the husband to the ladies, always remembering that you mention first the name of the lady: "Mrs. Chase, may I present Mr. Smith." "Mrs. Warren, Mr. Smith."

3. There are two points of view on this question, and each side has a good justification for its position. I think that it is better for a gentleman to precede the lady, that is, follow the usher. He will then be convenient to the usher find the place, and will be in a position to take the lady to the table to help the lady into the chair.

The "little red schoolhouse" is rapidly becoming a memory in New England.

In Massachusetts it is decreasing at the rate of 25 a year.

It is being replaced by the consolidated school. Yet, there are in New England nearly 300,000 persons, more than ten years of age, who can neither read nor write in any language.

More than 140,000 of them are in Massachusetts. This is an average of more than four out of every hundred of our Bay State population.

There are in Massachusetts more than 442,000 foreign born who are not naturalized.

In Massachusetts there are 96,400 who are unable to read, write or speak English.

This mass of illiterates constitutes New England's newest and greatest educational problem.

How are we going to educate the immigrant? He is a labor asset.

He is in many cases a home builder. His record in the war opened our eyes to his value as a patriot.

He made us realize that he is real flesh and blood.

Shall he be the prey of agitators or shall he be guided by Americans in true Americanism?

It may help you Minute Men of 1924 to visualize this problem if you will study the following report from the latest United States census:

State	Total Population	Total Illiterates	Percentage
Massachusetts	3,161,769	146,607	4.7
Maine	621,233	20,240	3.3
New Hampshire	361,930	15,788	4.4
Vermont	284,472	8,488	3.0
Rhode Island	483,788	31,312	6.5
Connecticut	1,087,797	67,265	6.2
	6,000,989	289,700

The Americanizing of immigrants is going to be a steady job. For the year ending June 30, 1923, 46,000 came to Massachusetts and 9,000 left; 3,800 came to Maine and 200 left; 10,000 came to Connecticut and 2,000 left; 5,800 came to New Hampshire and 150 left; 2,200 came to Vermont and 100 left, and 7,000 came to Rhode Island and 1,200 left.

That indicates fairly well the quota of immigrants which each New England State will receive each year for some time to come.

Not all of these people need school help. It must be assumed, of course, that many of the non-English speaking immigrants received schooling in their native lands.

Many of them are children and will be cared for by the day schools. A large number are too old to interest sufficiently in naturalization.

Notwithstanding these exceptions, the showing is impressive. In the fact that, to these numbers must be added thousands of new immigrants each year, we find the mandate to keep up the good work.

Are we going to make assets of citizenship out of our immigrants through broad-gauge schooling, or discourage and confuse them through demonstrations of bigotry, or abandon them altogether to the evils of anarchy?

What is the answer? There can be only one for New Englanders.

We must give them early and honest training in the ideals of American citizenship, stimulate them to read the news and do their own thinking.

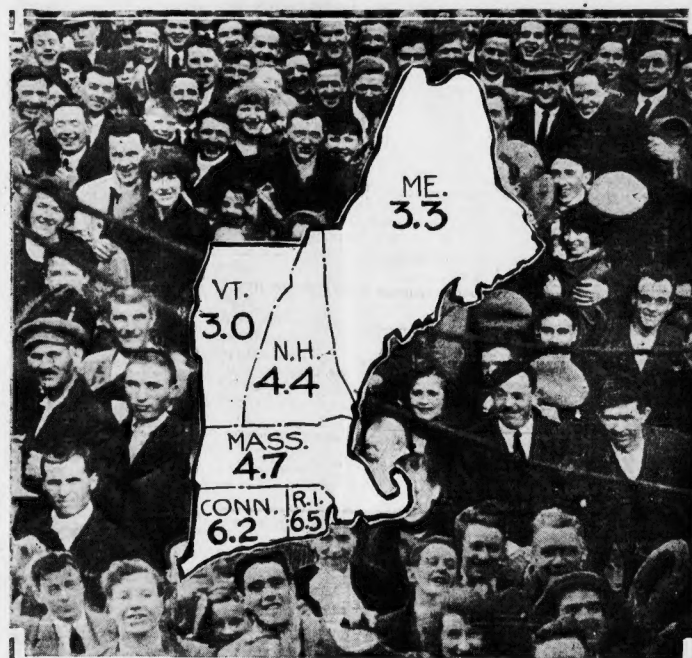

We have made a good beginning along these lines.

A law was passed in Massachusetts in 1919 to enlist the co-operation of local communities with the State in providing standard courses in citizenship for adult aliens.

That was the first official step in this country to make understanding Americans through the efforts of a public school system. It marked a new departure in education. Teachers went from schools to homes and places of employment.

Home groups, composed of mothers, more than 100 classes, averaging eight members, were taught last year by school teachers.

Nearly 100 factories co-operated. Classes were held from 12:15 to 1 and for an hour following closing time of either 5 or 6 o'clock. All teaching was done by trained public school teachers.

Here is pictured raw material for American citizenship and here is indicated New England's vital educational problem. The figures in the map show the percentage of illiterates in each New England State. The photograph shows a typical group of immigrants. The gross annual influx to New England from Europe is nearly 75,000. About 15,000 leave this section, leaving a net alien population of 60,000 to care for each year. These people are not obliged to become citizens. In some places they find dubious training for citizenship. What is New England doing with this problem?

Here is the course of instruction: First year, elementary English speaking, reading, writing, simple arithmetic and coin values, elements of United States history. Second year, more United States history and instruction in the United States Constitution. Third year, preparation for naturalization by courses in elements of United States citizenship.

In this work the State pays one-half the cost, each local community bears the other half.

Here is the great civic opportunity. Minute Men of 1924 should take the lead in demanding that everywhere in New England there shall be special schools for training immigrant fathers and mothers to keep pace in education with their children.

The goal set by the Massachusetts State Board of Education is a Commonwealth within whose confines everyone talks the American language and every grammar school boy and girl and every adult understands the United States.

Teaching free from propaganda, an education that will stimulate our new citizens to reason for themselves, these are the essentials of the Massachusetts courses in Americanism.

Massachusetts has taken the lead in this work. The other New England States are at her heels. Public interest must support good teaching and public money will determine the beneficial extent of this instruction.

New England is spending about $130,000,000 a year on education.

Massachusetts alone is spending about $54,000,000. New England leads in school consolidation.

Consolidation of rural schools has brought about equality of educational opportunity between the country and city school systems.

It is right for New England to take pride in her past accomplishments of education, but it is even more important that we have due regard to the future.

Asked what he considers New England's imperative educational problem, one of the most prominent educators in this State said:

"The greatest educational need in New England is the problem of the right adjustment of the product of our schools to the civic, social and industrial life of this age.

"Liberty's greatest threat is ignorance. In order to combat that successfully we must give those who come to America from foreign lands every opportunity to understand the theory and participate in the practices of our government."

The present day school system trains in Massachusetts alone more than 85,000 boys and girls in elementary and high schools. More than 50,000 boys and girls in industry now have an opportunity for part-time education. Day and evening schools offer industrial training to over 65,000 persons.

The demand in New England for trained teachers has not been so loud as elsewhere, because here, for many years, the trained teaching force has been of high quality. For instance, it is 90 per cent. in Connecticut, 88 per cent. in Massachusetts and 87 per cent. in Rhode Island.

The standing of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont is not so good, but the school authorities in those States are carrying forward campaigns with the object of placing a trained teacher in every school by 1933.

The 100 per cent. standard will be reached in this State, it is believed, within five years.

Former problems have been interesting, and in the solution of them New England always has been a leader. But there is another vital and too long neglected problem which we have just begun to consider seriously.

It is the making of Americans out of the raw material which comes to this land from foreign shores.

It is only within the last four years that we have really begun to consider immigrant adults as assets of citizenship, more important than labor assets.

Their response to the call to arms opened our eyes to their worth.

Now we know they are real flesh and blood people, that they want to learn to live the American way, that they have minds and hearts and souls, that they want to be home builders, that they want their children to enjoy advantages they longed for, but which were denied them, and that they offer us material for the making of Americans of the same spirit as the Minute Men of the Revolutionary period.

Upon the spirit in which that offer is met depends the future of the world's greatest experiment in Democracy.

Too long we have been wasting splendid material for the building of a better citizenship; too long have we been abandoning our alien population to the tender mercies of the politician and the anarchistic spouter of foreign tongue.

What has been done the last four years in Massachusetts in adult alien education has revealed how terribly blind we have been in the past.

In four years the State has spent $500,000 in this work and more than 100 cities and towns are now bestirring themselves to provide programs in English and citizen teaching.

Letters on file in the office of the Commissioner of Education in Boston attest the appreciation of the Americanization classes.

The letters are voluntary. The sentiments they express spring from full hearts. Each one has its own peculiar mark of sincerity, but, in effect, this is the general tenor:

"I am an American citizen. I am proud of my citizenship. America has been good to me and I am going to be a good citizen. Thanks to my teachers. They have been my good friends."

The result of this education of adult immigrants must be a higher level of all-around citizenship. In the past, examinations of applicants for citizenship have been based upon a cursory knowledge of our form of government, the ability to write a personal signature and read a few lines of the Constitution of the United States.

In the past, evening schools or friends usually provided all the instruction candidates for citizenship received. Sometimes a good-natured judge has eased the way.

Political committees and political influence have done much in guiding foreigners to citizenship.

It is now being recognized, more and more, that that was the wrong way and that the much better way is through a course of instruction which will equip foreigners to meet the needs of citizenship, instead of merely translating them into voters for the benefit of political machines and candidates.

Already, in four years, the results show most hopeful signs for the future. Trained teachers are proving to be better mentors than practical politicians. They are making real Americans instead of voting-list dummies.

They are not merely instructing men and women to pass the naturalization examination, but are making them anxious to know how they may be worthy of their citizenship, to have a pride in it that will impel them to participate actively in civic affairs.

This work has helped wonderfully to bring about more cordial relations between employer and employee. It has supplemented splendidly the impetus for good citizenship furnished by the World War opportunity for American comradeship.

One plant in Worcester pays its workmen for the time spent in school.

Two industries in Springfield give a complimentary dinner to the classes of new citizens in their employment.

A firm in Palmer and a mill in Holyoke pay expenses of employees to the naturalization court and send reputable witnesses with them.

The three largest textile mills in Lawrence help to organize forty-five industrial classes and have arranged hours convenient for 300 immigrant mothers to go to school in one of the woolen mills during the noon hour.

Eight Taunton employers co-operate with the school committee for a sufficient appropriation to carry on the shop classes.

In New Bedford seventy-one classes in twelve large mills last year helped 900 employees to learn English.

That is real Minute Man work. That means splendid returns to country, citizenship and industry.

We want more of it.

We have enough half-baked Americans.

Full-fledged citizens are greatly to be preferred. This applies both to native born and immigrants.
